Building land for sale with a valid building permit for the construction of a modern villa with a swimming pool.

It is located in a small Istrian village, not far from Poreč and beautiful beaches, making it an ideal choice for building a holiday home or as an investment.

A special advantage of this property is that the neighboring plot is also for sale, with a building permit for an identical project, at the same price. This offers the possibility to purchase one or both plots, depending on your needs and plans.

For a better impression of the future appearance and construction quality, it is possible to view already completed villas built according to the same project.
